

Chevron Corporation

San Ramon, California

Chevron Corporation is an American multinational energy corporation, engaged in every aspect of the oil, natural gas, and geothermal energy industries. The Corporation established a company policy that provides all employees and management military guidance to support Guard and Reserve Employees. In addition to providing differential pay for Guard and Reserve employees during military service, Chevron has a robust Veteran's Network that is active in supporting service members' personal and professional growth. The Corporation honors military service at all levels of the organization and managers, supervisors and senior leadership maintain constant communication during deployments and military training periods. Their support extends to the community, where Chevron was one of the first to provide support to Coast Guard families during Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria.
